Deployment for Learning and Teaching

Explore Apple deployment tools and services that support great learning and teaching.

Led by Apple Professional Learning Specialists, this two-day, onsite experience focuses on technical and pedagogical needs through hands-on activities and interactive discussions.

Who should participate

- Administrators and education leaders involved in the deployment plan, including: principals, curriculum directors, instructional technologists, and media specialists

- IT education professionals responsible for deploying and managing Apple devices

What participants are saying

"Today's meeting was so powerful in many avenues…we could not be more excited for the road ahead. Thank you for designing and executing a hands-on experience that truly engaged us throughout."

— Charles Von Hollen, Director of Technology at Blind Brook - Rye Union Unified School District

What participants will do

- Discuss the value and makeup of a deployment leadership team.

- Experience a zero-touch setup from a student perspective.

- Identify deployment tools and their capabilities.

- Build a mock deployment using Apple School Manager and an MDM solution.

- Leverage teaching and learning features of Apple education tools, such as Apple TV, Classroom, Schoolwork, and Assessment Mode.
